PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Dear Members, Friends and all Stakeholders of CNI

It is a great time for CNI - which will mark its 16th years of service in promoting the industrial development within Nepal and emphasizing the need for rapid industrial growth in the country. On the occasion of CNI's 15th Annual General Meeting, we have published the year book of CNI "CNI Chronicle 2017-18" which incorporates various aspects of CNI including activities of last one year. The atmosphere in Nepal for industries hasn't been as electric and changing as it is right now, since a long time ago. This represents greater opportunities and bigger challenges for our community and our nation as well - in the ever changing global business environment. Already, this past year of 2074 BS (2017-18 AD) has been opportunities for the progress of the country and is outlined on the publication "Roadmap of Prosperity" which envisions the future of Nepal that is successful not only to the industrial enterprises but also the nation as a whole - an attempt to capture the vision and ambition of the private sector as Nepal embarks on a new era of development. The "Roadmap for Prosperity" covers issues in the topics ranging from the creation of employment, good governance practices, proper management of resources, the Rule of Law, and various strategies for industrial development. Our publication's significant part covers various suggestions in the area of legal reform in Economic and Investment Policies - which will help the policy makers and investors to create the right conditions for economic and industrial growth - a vital part of Nepal's plan to become prosperous an exciting time for all of us at CNI - because of the work and effort we have put into the policy reforms especially in the newly formed system of Federal Governance established through three tiers of elections. It is worth recollecting some of the major programs and initiatives that CNI has undertaken to energize the economy, to improve industrial business environment and focusing on industries on manufacturing, services, infrastructure etc - apart from working on the federal economic model.

CNI has published the document "Roadmap of Prosperity" (Samriddhi ko Margachitra) which is developed with the involvement of Eminent Person's Council of CNI (CNI-Think Tank). CNI have put considerable effort to create the awareness and understating on the outlining issues and and successful thriving community, in the coming years. Enterprises in the manufacturing, services, banking and infrastructure arena - recognized for its potential to usher in rapid opportunities for sustainable economic growth in a way that is beneficial to our nation: our communities, our families and our environment need right working environment. This document couldn't have been created without the selfless hard work and efforts of the Eminent Person's Council of CNI (CNI Think Tank) and I take this opportunity to thank them for the effort they have put and even more grateful for the result of this effort as it guide us for the future that is yet to come.

This is also aligned with the new government's goal of "Samriddha Nepal, Sukhi Nepali" ('Prosperous Nepal, Happy Nepali') to achieve political stability, social harmony and economic prosperity for the people of Nepal. CNI hope that the present government will create a more conducive environment in realizing its development goals through the promotion of industrial investment, through the creation of conducive business ecosystem and through the improvement of the capacity of Industrial Institution like CNI.

CNI is committed to partner with the society, government agencies, development partners and complement on the efforts in bring a fast economic growth and social development of Nepal. CNI have been advocating for greater cooperation from government in the field of industrial investment. The untapped opportunities that have been created in Nepal are profound and inordinate, but far difficult to achieve without further liberalization on the investment related regulations and policies. In order to help the promotion of sustainable development, industrial security and a better rapport between the government and industries - CNI will continue to play a catalyst role with priceless contribution to industry stakeholders of Nepal.

Over the years CNI has also successfully worked the country in helping achieve the vision of CNI to make the country's industrial sectors vibrant, resilient and globally competitive. I would like to extend many thanks to Government of Nepal, development partners and members for the support to CNI and hope for further and continuously improving support in the days to come. I am very confident that CNI will continue to be the driving force in making the industrial sector the engine of rapid growth and development of the national economy.

I strongly believe that this is an opportunity for the Private Sector of Nepal to become stronger and more courageous to tackle the obstacles that lies ahead in front of us. It is the right time for all those involved to take a look back and reflect on all our achievements, obstacles tackled and hurdles overcome - which shows us the fundamental reasons that we decided to work together in the first place. The journey ahead won't be as easy as we expect but we aren't looking for an easy path, rather we wish to use our strengths and diligence to overcome a difficult time ahead.

My appreciation and gratitude to Nepal with international and globally recognized institutions including various development partners of Nepal - with whom we are working in various projects around the year. CNI has worked tirelessly to promote the private sector and has advocated for appropriate legislative & policy reforms and worked towards improving the working environment necessary for an investment friendly climate in Nepal. With the support and guidance of CNI members, we have continued to raise the issues pertinent to the bleak economic scenario today. Thus, we call out the need for quick political solutions, reforms in the financial sector, strengthening of private sector's capabilities, streamlining of private sector initiation on the development agenda, the achievement of double digit growth and industrialization based on fair and competitiveness in our country.

I must recognize and be grateful for the support and contributions from CNI members especially the eminent members of CNI Governing Council and National Council - along with the goodwill of our well-wishers – both within and outside Government, all the Members of CNI, Secretariat Officials at CNI and stakeholders associated with CNI.

FROM THE DIRECTOR-GENERAL'S DESK

On the special occasion of CNI's 15th Annual General Meeting, I am pleased to present the year book of CNI "CNI Chronicle 2017-18". This is the log book that incorporates various aspects of CNI – Vision, mission, principle, strategies, functions and activities carried out in the year 2017 as well as other multiple dimensions – Nepalese economy, Industry and Investment. After going through this publication, I am confident

National council and also its members trusting me with these crucial responsibilities. I also would like to thank government authorities, policy makers, development partners, civil societies and colleagues from media for their continuous cooperation and support in our operation. My special appreciation goes to all the staffs associated with CNI Secretariat for their continuous support, dedication and professional integrity in every endeavor.

that all the CNI members and readers would be aware and acknowledge the initiatives and contributions that CNI has undertook to accelerate the economic condition of Nepal.

As we look forward, it is worth reflecting on the past year. The year 2017 has provided an opportunity for expansion in membership, regional and international networking, professional trade and investment as well as working with government and development partners in policy formulation and implementation issues which I firmly believe CNI has fully grasped. CNI is determined to promote the business and industries advocating the timely possible actions and decisiveness through its expertise and networks which I think is the need of the country.

It's been my great experience to serve Confederation of Nepalese Industries providing valuable service to private and government sector. The growth and success of CNI would not have been possible without the input of its office bearers, respected members and staff. I, therefore would like to use this platform to express my sincere gratitude to CNI President Mr. Hari Bhakta Sharma, President Emeritus Mr. Binod Chaudhary, CNI Senior and all other vice presidents, Governing and

Lastly, I would like to extend my cordial and deep gratitude to all its stakeholders and partners for their valuable support and advice. CNI seeks continuous support of all the stakeholders for creating better atmosphere to promote investment and bring positive changes in Nepalese economy.

Introduction

Confederation of Nepalese Industries (CNI), established on April 17, 2000 is an umbrella organization of large and medium scale industries of manufacturing as well as service sector of the Nepal. CNI is a professionally led apex body of country's industrial and corporate sector operating with a theme of "Talking Business, Talking Change".

A non-government, not-for-profit organization, CNI is the voice of Nepal's business and industry. From influencing policy to encouraging debate, engaging with policy makers and civil society, CNI articulates the views and concerns of industry. CNI provides a platform for networking and consensus building within and across sectors and serves its members from the Nepalese private and public corporate sectors. From its birth, CNI actively raising issues related to investment and industrial development of Nepal and simultaneously providing solutions in the same.

The establishment of CNI was based on the widespread belief that the industrial society of Nepal urgently needed an effective representative body that would serve as a true platform to concentrate on many issues plaguing the Nepalese industries. There was a common understanding to establishment of a modern professional body with well-trained and experienced professional staffs that would be fully supported by the latest technological advancements. Keeping this thing in mind, CNI is committed to ensure meaningful policy inputs to the government, to create an industrial environment conducive to both the domestic as well as foreign investment and proper representation of manufacturing and service industries of Nepal.

CNI is working and associated with several business organizations of developing as well as developed countries in Asia, Africa, Europe and America as globalization has stepped everywhere and a harbinger of change has taken place in Nepalese economy due to global economy. With this regards, CNI has strong associations with the chambers and business organizations in India, Sri Lanka, Bangladesh, Pakistan, China, Hong Kong, Singapore, Czech Republic, Turkey and also works in close cooperation with international networks. This institution is thus being capable of not only providing useful policy inputs to the government of Nepal but also ensuring the implementation of the same.

This organization has particularly been focusing on the larger corporate and industrial enterprises which are the substantial sectorial leaders of Nepalese economy. These include enterprises from all the sectors such as manufacturing, tourism, financial services, exports or infrastructure irrespective of origin of the investments, geography as well as the nature of the business. Since its establishment, CNI has been raising issues like the persistent economic situation imbroglio, need for reforms in financial sector, strengthening of private sector's capabilities, the streamlining of private sector's initiation on development agenda, double digit growth issues and industrialization based on trade competitiveness.

In addition, CNI is an organization that works in coordination with many more local as well as international organizations and is increasingly becoming involved in the areas where the existing system and government has failed to deliver.

Philosophy of CNI, as an apex of the country's industrial and business sectors is highly based on the concept of 'Culture of Corporatization'. As CNI is a corporate led and professionally managed non-governmental, non-political and not for profit organization based on a well-established organizational structure, a team of highly competent professionals of the concerned fields has been employed to translate its vision and national interest to ground reality. CNI is a powerful and effective advocate for economic growth and policy change to promote industrial climate as well as investment. It has become a vital source of expert advice and information to boost up investor confidence employment generation. CNI is envisioned to ensure that the government as well as the wider community including business, donors and civil society understands the needs of the growth of Nepalese Industry and the contributions it makes to the well-being of general public.

CNI is promoting business and industry in Nepal while protecting the rights and interests of business and industrial communities. Through its expertise, CNI provides information, advisory, consultative, promotional and representative services to business organizations as well as government. According to the underlined philosophy and given assumption, CNI has been providing a forum for the generation of ideas, for exchange of views and for the enlargement of useful business networking based on the following principles:

- Functioning solely on defined objective and prudent policies with the democratic mechanism of preoperational representation guided by the confederation's constitution.
- Adopting a pro-active partnership approach internally with its constituents as well as with the government and other national and international organizations.

CNI's Vision, Mission and Strategies

VISION

To play a lead role in making the country's industrial sectors vibrant, resilient as well as globally competitive, and promoting the investment friendly environment for achieving a sustainable double digit economic growth.

MISSION

The primary area of CNI to work is encouraging positive competition and competent management among the industries, promoting domestic and foreign investment, and creating employment opportunities in the country's industrial and corporate sector.

STRATEGIES

In order to accomplish the above mission and move ahead towards the set vision, CNI has been adopting the following strategies:

- To strengthen the efficiency of the Nepalese private sector at par with the international levels and to be recognized as the leader in providing value added business support services and trade facilitation for competitiveness and quality enhancement.
- To act as a 'Think Tank' for the management and development of Nepal's industrial sector and to be recognized as the key catalyst in mobilizing the value of the private sector.
- To take appropriate actions to achieve the nation's social aims by ensuring professionalism, social accountability, business integrity and high standards of quality of goods and services.
- To play an instrumental role to create conducive environment for investment in the country's industrial sectors and to provide necessary inputs as well as services for the establishment and development of supportive institutions.
- To provide crucial recommendations and facilitate different government bodies as well as agencies on issues related to industrial promotion, economic policy formulation and investment facilitation along with the improvements required on the same according to the need of times.
- To develop a team of professionals at CNI with competencies and commitment for promoting national economic as well as member's business interests and to formulate necessary rules and regulations, within the framework of the CNI constitution, in order to regulate the activities of the Confederation.

- To be financially self-reliant by expanding the member base, chapters, industry association, contact offices and branches throughout the Nepal and introducing new services to member enterprises and to those who need CNI's assistance to expand their businesses and to excel in professionalism.
- To build a affiliation, cooperation and mutual rapport with the international public as well as private institutions with an aim of promotion and development of bilateral, regional and international trade and investment and to share experiences and views among international organizations.
- To work in the field of research and development both at the national and international levels in the issues related to industrial development, factor productivity, technological advancement, product innovation, trade facilitation, industrial relation, taxation among many other possible areas of business and investment expansion within and outside the country.

CNI OBJECTIVE AND GOALS

The principal objective of CNI is to encourage positive competition and competent management among the industries, promoting domestic and foreign investment, and creating employment opportunities in the country's industrial and corporate sector.

A part from this, CNI has been identified the following specific goals and working to achieve the same.

- Proper representation of the country's medium as well as large scale manufacturing and services industries.
- Provide meaningful policy inputs to the government in the area of industrial development, investment and export promotion, trade facilitation, industrial relation.
- Act as a forerunner of major changes in global economic and business scenario and possible impacts to Nepal.
- Help to create an industrial environment conducive to domestic and foreign investment.
- Working closely with the government on policy formulation and implementation issues
- Enhancing efficiency and competitiveness of Nepalese industries.
- Creating opportunities for the country's industrial growth through specialized services and global linkages.
- Acting as platform of consensus building and networking for public private partnership in development agendas.
- Develop CNI as a 'Think Tank' institution for the management and development of the economic and industrial sector of Nepal through the means of research and development (R&D).

CNI Organization Structure

GENERAL BODY

This is the highest body constituted of all members of CNI. It is also called the General Assembly.

NATIONAL COUNCIL

National Council is one of the high level bodies consisting of 33 members (including office bearers) representing different sectors of CNI Membership.

GOVERNING COUNCIL

Governing Council is the policy making body of CNI that is constituted of seven senior business leaders under the coordination of CNI Former President including the current President.

OFFICE BEARERS

Office Bearers Committee is the main functional body of CNI consisting of the President, the President Emeritus, the Senior Vice President, four Vice Presidents (including ex-officio Vice President) and Director General (non-voting member).

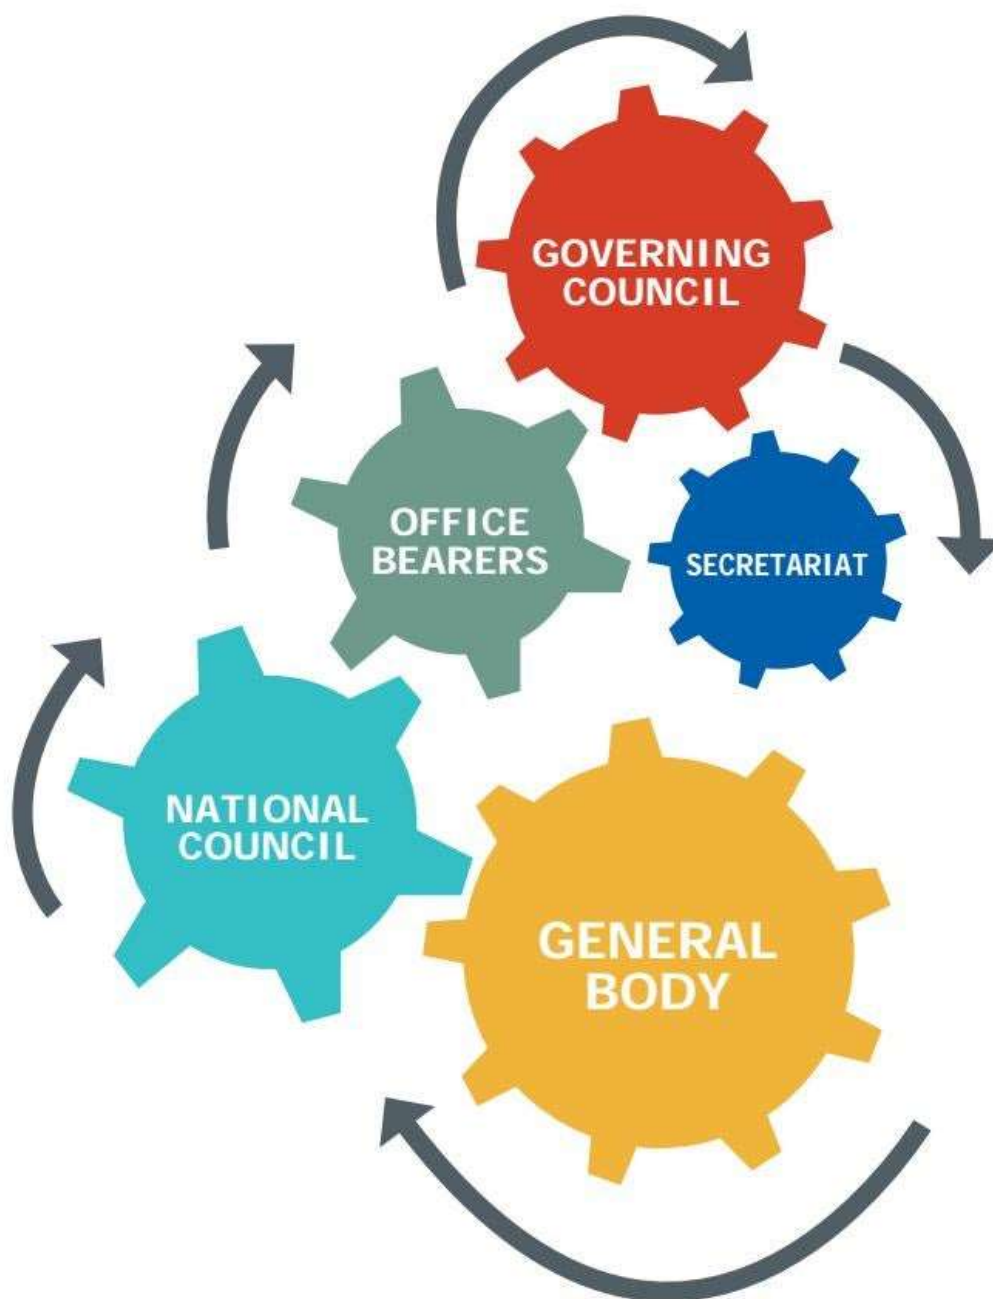

SECRETARIAT

CNI has an efficient Secretariat with different specialized departments including research and development, documentation and publication, and foreign trade information center for its daily operation. Likewise, the secretariat constitutes information collection and dissemination unit, forums, committees supported by competitive professionals and support staff.

Similarly, CNI secretariat has own spacious office of more than 3500 square feet area, which includes a large Meeting Hall, special guest station and various office bearers as well as administrative wings.

Talking Business, Talking Change

CNI Policies

In spite of policy reforms initiated in the early 1990s, Nepal could not attract foreign direct investment (FDI) as much as desired. This is partly because a small, least developed, landlocked, mountainous country has little to offer to investors. Nevertheless, other similarly situated countries are receiving more investment than Nepal.

In such a situation, can Nepal improve its domestic as well as foreign investment performance? The answer of CNI is yes, because Nepal's advantages include among others privileged access to a well-disposed neighboring country with a large market; a low wage, trainable workforce; a flourishing local entrepreneurial culture in both small and large business; and established international recognition. Nepal's temperate climate is also ideal for cultivating medicinal herbs, whose market has seen phenomenal expansion in recent years.

However, these advantages can make attractive investment packages. There are serious weaknesses in the policy framework and implementation that warrant priority attention. Keeping this in mind, CNI has set the following policies to work with the government as well as the development partners in order to improve investment climate, investment performance and the industrial development to achieve sustainable double digit economic growth.

- Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) is one of the important engines of economic development. However, there is tough competition to attract FDI in their respective countries. CNI, in association with the government of Nepal will make an effort to change the mind set of foreign investors from 'Why Nepal' to 'Why not Nepal'.

- Infrastructures are crucial for the investment promotion and industrial development of a country. To develop infrastructure at a faster pace, besides peace and security, CNI will help government of Nepal to bring favorable investment policies so that private investment and FDI can be attracted in infrastructure projects.

- Productivity, the most crucial variable for dynamic economic growth and employment creation, is low because the government is not oriented towards productivity enhancement —rather they are focused on cheap labor. Labor productivity can be increased by better industrial relations; much more investment in human resources; paying living wages; introduction of modern technology, and a strategic vision, based on consensus and making stringent labor laws.

- As the leader of private sectors, CNI will focus to increase the productivity through skill development and technological adaptation programs for national economic growth and risk management in the unfolding era of uncertainty, crisis and conflict.
- Cost of transaction and cost of fund should be reduced as a matter of priority to uplift the competitiveness of the Nepalese economy and to ameliorate the investment climate. In this respect, CNI is very sincere and ready to work with the government as well as Nepal Rastra Bank (NRB), the central bank of Nepal in the issues of financial sector reform and capital market development, which in turn will be instrumental for enhancing financial deepening and reducing cost of capital.
- There is lack of complete communication to foreign investors about the investment related issues, rules, regulations and procedures. That is why Nepal is not getting the adequate amount of foreign investment and this has created problems when the foreign investors want to repatriate the profit/dividend. Thus CNI, through the recently developed information portal 'Invest Nepal' along with its regional and global networking, will be actively disseminating the primary information to all the foreign investors on the aspect of FDI.
- Challenges from international competitiveness cannot be met without adequate infrastructures such as roads, warehouses, electricity, water, sanitation and telecommunications. Although, it is the duty of the State to provide such infrastructures as well as level playing field; CNI will take an initiative and contribute in this aspect through public-private partnership (PPP) mechanism.

- While it is being recognized that the private sectors, informal and formal, are the true engines of economic growth. But at present, it is not realized that the role of private sectors in national economy, employment generation, policy-making as well as strategy formulation is acknowledged despite the advent of the liberal democracy. In this respect, CNI will act as lobbyists or pressure groups to narrow down the gap and further broaden the contribution of private sectors by enhancing the professionalism as well as business integrity in line of the national interest.

- The principal objective of CNI is to encourage positive competition and competent management among the industries, promoting domestic and foreign investment, and creating employment opportunities in the country's industrial and corporate sector. Thus, CNI will be working as a 'Think Tank' institution for the management and development of the economic and industrial sector of Nepal through the means of research and development (R&D).

CNI Networking

Since its establishment, CNI has been focusing to expand its network in national as well as international level. CNI Office Bearers, governing council and national council have already endorsed a policy to open new chapters in different places of the country that hold strong industrial potential, hoping that the CNI's efforts will be value addition for the national economy as whole through optimum utilization of resources, giving new momentum to economic activities and ultimately generating more jobs opportunities in the country.

Keeping this reality in mind, CNI now has been focusing to strengthen the existing chapters and association as well as expand new network in the national and international levels. By now, CNI has established its network in the following industrial and business centre of Nepal:-

CNI PROVINCES

CNI has initiated the process of establishing Confederations in all seven provinces in view of the new federal setup. To this effect, seven active members of CNI have been nominated as the Coordinators of the respective provinces as follows:

CNI Domestic Partnership

CNI believes that the unilateral efforts of the confederation only would not be adequate enough to achieve its set goals and objective as well as to contribute for the economic development of the country. Keeping this reality in mind, CNI has actively been participating in various socio-economic activities organized by different public as well as private organizations. In order to further intensify its efforts and to exert considerable impact on the social wellbeing of the general people through economic development and employment generation, CNI has joined hands by signing MOU with the following organizations.

CNI International Partnerships

In order to foster the relationship between Nepal and the rest of the world, and to facilitate economic growth of Nepal organizations and for promoting investment potentials of Nepal in the international markets as a means of economic diplomacy.

through improved investment climate, industrial development, CNI has been focusing to expand its global presence. As promoting professionalism and positive competition is one of the major working areas of CNI, it has signed Memorandum of Understanding (MoUs) with the public and private organizations of regional as well as global level. By doing that, CNI has envisaged that such collaboration will be a milestone for a strategic partnership between these

CNI believes that having bilateral agreements with regional and international associations will help it in achieving its goals of enhancing professionalism in management, advancement in technology and development of trade and industry in the country. Towards this end, CNI has some very important bilateral agreements with a number of important trade and industry organizations throughout the world which are listed here in chronological order:

CNI Functions

CNI provides a wide range of services for parties engaged in trade and commerce in national, regional and international level. Its operation is totally guided to contribute for the higher economic growth and thereby socio-economic development of the society. As an apex institution country's industrial and business sectors, CNI's outlook is to provide efficient, flexible and impartial services including administrative and support, secretarial and other professional assistance for the facilitation along with supervision, arbitration and conciliation proceedings. The major functions of CNI include the following:

1. Helping to Create an Investment Friendly Climate in Nepal

With low levels of output/income and a low savings rate, continued and expanding economic growth clearly requires an expanded level of investment – there is no other way to grow the economy. This new investment cannot take place from domestic sources because Nepal does not possess the sizeable stock of accumulated savings that would be needed. Neither it is likely to come from foreign remittances, which now play a significant role in offsetting a gradually-increasing trade deficit, but is habitually used for consumption expenditure. Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) thus assumes a level of importance that will only increase in future years in order to bring the level of economic growth and development as projected by the government.

To be successful in attracting investment, Nepal must be competitive and be viewed as one of the most open, investor-friendly, and progressive business environments in the region. To this end, the government must be committed to changing the mindset of all stakeholders to reflect what is needed to achieve this objective. The policy documents thus must be focused to attract greater levels of both foreign and domestically-generated investment to take advantage of Nepal's abundant investment opportunities.

Investment policy is derived development and the objectives it sets for itself in putting in place a series of beliefs or aspirations that will be the defining cornerstone of future activity in the investment area. In this connection, one of the major functions of CNI is working with government to provide a clear and authoritative approach to development, to assure the private sector that its capital as well as business will be supported by the legislative policies and acts of the land for creating employment, raising national income, and generating wealth. With this regards, CNI organized Nepal Infrastructure Summit 2014 in Kathmandu on November 11 and 12, 2014 with a theme "Accelerating Investment in Infrastructure" which sets the foundation for sustainable policy dialogue between government and private sector in presence of global audience on infrastructure development so that the policies, regulations, networks, technical know-how and financial investment can be pooled and deployed in coming days in nation.

2. Enhancing Private Sector Capacity and Capabilities

Role of private sector for sustained economic development is always at the forefront. The present global economic experiences reaffirmed the notion that the invisible hand of the market would always contribute to accelerate growth process in a sustained manner. Market oriented development strategies encourage increasing private sector involvements in the development process, limiting the government's role as a facilitator & developer of the private sector through the investments on building physical infrastructure and human resources so as to create an environment conducive for private sector development.

In such a situation, Confederation of Nepalese Industries (CNI), as a private sector organization and one of the associates of the country's prosperity, indeed, has been focusing for the capacity development of private sector, the engine of the growth. The motives behind this function are as follows:

- To promote and intensify the capacity of the country's private sector as the government has been adopting the free market economy policy since almost two decades ago
- To increase the importance of the private sector in strengthening the industrial sector and ultimately achieving sustainable economic growth in the economy
- To change the government's formal vision with recognized and honored importance as well as contribution of the private sector to the national economy
- To give emphasis and pledge support for as international market in the era of globalization

- To encourage public confidence in the goods and services produced and offers by the country's private sector thereby promoting the export
- To facilitate and create sound industrial relations at the national and enterprise level and establish good relations with the trade unions to create good working environment in the country.

3. Become the Sounding Voice of the Industries

As one of the main objectives towards the origin of CNI was to boost up the country's industrial sectors through the increased confidence of businesses operating in Nepal and attracting foreign direct investment (FDI) to accelerate economic growth, CNI has actively been working as the sounding voice of industries. In order to increase the level of business confidence, the domestic environment should be conducive to the investors of national as well as international level. To establish and maintain such environment in Nepal, the land of comparative advantage with huge potential markets, CNI has continuously been advocating and lobbying for betterment of the country's industrial community and for maximized social welfare of general people.

To this end, CNI has highlighted a number of important points about and different facets of the business climate as well as industrial promotion. There is a cross-regional and cross-sectoral consensus among business persons and industrialists all over Nepal that the government regulation and policy has posed the biggest hindrance to

to give emphasis and pledge support for the expertise development of the Sector specific private enterprises with right, responsibility and accountability

- To make able the country's private sector to compete in the regional as well policy has posed the biggest hindrance to Nepalese business community. The business communities expect this would not continue in future and accordingly looking forward to the constructive role of CNI. To meet this expectation of industrial community, CNI has been focusing to minimize the hindrances related to the industrial relation, lack of power/fuel, access to finance and bureaucratic hassles through the means of advocacy and lobby.

4. Working Closely with the Government and Development Partners

It should be clearly understood that the development and implementation of trade and investment related policy, with attractive slogans and promises, will not automatically result in an increase in investment. But it will indicate a commitment of government to making the environment hospitable for investors by removing administrative barriers to investment, by helping to increase competitiveness and by eliminating corruption. Such policy-driven improvements will go far in encouraging investors, both domestic and foreign, to locate their businesses in Nepal. In order to increase Nepal's national competitiveness and to attract more investment government must focus on streamlining policies and practices, and reforming domestic policies and procedures that have been serving as entry barriers to the industries and business activities. Apart from that, keeping the seriousness of such issues in mind, the government should make some efforts to ease the implementation mechanism of policy statements along with the simplified tax administration, transparent monitoring and evaluation system with provision of closely working with the more than twenty five government agencies and departments not only in the issues of policy formulation but also in the process of policy implementation, monitoring and evaluation. Likewise, CNI has been closely working with the development partners, national/international non-governmental organizations (N/INGOs), diplomatic missions, academia and civil society in the areas of infrastructure development, trade/investment facilitation, research and development (R&D) as well as corporate social responsibility (CSR).

5. Promoting Industrial Growth through Specialization, Innovation and Technological Advancement

Although, Nepal's industrial sector recorded an annual average growth rate of around 5 percent over the past 2 decades, the growth was uneven and set on a clear declining trend. Unless it grows more rapidly than other sectors of the economy, thereby increasing its share in overall GDP, it seems to be difficult to reduce poverty and generate well-paid jobs, and ultimately to attain the country's prosperity. In the future, a rapidly expanding Nepalese manufacturing sector, both in terms of increasing its relative size in the domestic economy and in terms of raising its productivity level is inevitable. Experience in other South and Southeast Asian countries show that, with appropriate policies and strategies in place, the industrial sector can and evaluation system with provision of award as well as punishment. For this the government and the private sectors should work simultaneously with mutual trust and confident so that the private sector, the engine of the growth, could felt that their contribution in investment, employment, production as well as revenue generation to the government is acknowledged by the government.

To this end, CNI as an apex body of country's industrial and business sectors, has been strategies in place, the industrial sector can be turned into a driving force of economic progress.

Given its relatively small industrial base, low labor costs and potential markets, this is certainly achievable in Nepal, provided the country is able to restore law and order, a stable macroeconomic and political environment and transparent regulatory mechanism accompanied by conducive business environment to attract and retain specialization, innovation and technological advancement with domestic and foreign investment. CNI believes that a new industrial strategy, which emphasizes domestic linkages and the development of small and medium scale industries, has the potential to generate widespread employment in the manufacturing sector as well as in agriculture, trade, transport and supporting services, and consequently improve the living standards of large sections of the population in urban and rural areas.

Apart from that, CNI has been focusing to the industrial development strategy to face four emerging challenges - all stemming from the gradual erosion of the country's industrial competitiveness in an increasingly open trading environment.

- First, the growth rate of the Industrial sector has been quite uneven in the past years and, moreover, has slowed down considerably and even posting negative growth in some years
- Second, with rapid globalization and trade liberalization, Nepal is facing increasingly stiff competition in its traditional export markets and products, while its domestic firms are competing against increasing inflows of imported manufactures. Foreign exchange earnings of the tourism sector including poor investment climate and business environment, inadequate physical infrastructure, underdeveloped industrial technology and low skills and education levels. To cope with these weaknesses, CNI has been focusing on specialization, innovation and technological advancement.

6. Acting as a Platform for Consensus Building and Networking

While policy reforms and transparency are necessary to address the immediate, short-term constraints of the industrial sector, they are not sufficient by themselves to lead to the rapid and sustained development of the economy as whole. Because of numerous market failures facing domestic firms in developing their technical and managerial capabilities including information acquisition, skills upgrading and technology development; progress will not evolve naturally in the context of Nepal's present endowments and policy framework, or in the international context of stiff competition in the globalized market place. In such a situation, the role of the government as well as the private sector organizations, like CNI, should be focused on consensus building and networking, especially in the areas of promoting investment climate exchange earnings of the tourism sector have declined, putting additional pressure on the manufacturing sector to boost next export earnings.

- Third, Nepal's traditional exports are losing share in the world market, and the world demand for its exports is stagnating or declining.
- And fourth, Nepal's industrial structure, already at odds with its long-term comparative advantage, is facing renewed pressure from the impact of trade liberalization on its ailing industries.

In addition to these four main emerging challenges, the industrial sector suffers from many long-standing weaknesses, in the areas of promoting investment climate and business confidence where it can be most effective to attract additional investment.

The regulatory approach and policy tools used in Nepal seem to be ineffective as much as required to rely on the dispute settlement, consensus building and networking, which has already been proved in past to spur manufacturing growth, promoting a narrow range of exports based on largely imported inputs, e.g. carpets and garments, and tariffs and bans to protect domestic firms. Moreover, the changing international environment places pressure on all parties to liberalize trade and investment regimes, calls for a more creative and innovative strategy, relying on close public-private partnerships to enhance the productive and transaction efficiency of manufacturing firms, to diversify export products and markets, to create a conducive business environment, to invest in the necessary physical infrastructure, and to develop industrial technology at the firm level in order to raise the technical and managerial capabilities of domestic industrial firms. Above all, it should recognize that it is firms that compete on domestic and international markets, and that public policy needs to fortify the competitive capabilities of firms.

As the industrial sector already accounts larger share for most of the country's export and its success is crucial to the country's prosperity, now and in the future. In recent years, the Nepalese industrial sector has been facing difficulties posed by international conditions, the result of the global downturn and global competition. However, Nepal has opportunities as it has one of the lowest wage rates in Asia, and can attract foreign direct investment. It boasts diverse climatic conditions, abundant water resources and hydropower potential, and a strategic location between China and India. There is development: businesses need to integrate the economic, social and environmental impact in their operations. Keeping this reality in mind, CNI takes its CSR very seriously and, besides encouraging all its members to be active regularly to fulfill their individual social responsibilities, it itself has been an example in this sector since its inception. CNI as an organization that is accountable to society at large and responsible to help those in need has taken some initiatives in association with Maha Sanchar, an philanthropic organization set up by the comedian duo of Madan Krishna Shrestha and Hari Bansha Acharya, and dozens of other organizations, CNI has set up a "Citizen Relief Fund" to undertake immediate relief programs in the event of natural calamities like floods, earthquakes and fire in the country. This Fund has grown exponentially to become a dependable source for helping relief efforts in the case of natural calamities in the country as well as abroad.

CNI-Citizen Relief Fund so far carried out relief programs for fire victims in location between China and India. There is much that the government and industry can do take advantage of these opportunities.

Keeping these opportunities in mind, as the apex body of country's industrial sector, CNI has developed itself as a platform for consensus building and networking both in national as well as international levels for investment promotion, industrial development and employment generation.

7. Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR)

In recent decades the concept of Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) turned out to be a vital strategy for businesses to survive in a ruthless market environment. In a condition where market's shift and customers' preferences becomes more unpredictable and complex, adopting CSR strategy could be a powerful tool for survival. CSR is intrinsically linked to the concept of sustainable Kathmandu and Siraha, flood victims in eastern and western Nepal and people affected with diarrhea epidemic in the far western region of the country. Likewise, it has collected funds as well as other required materials and handed it over to Pakistani Embassy to help the victims of the devastating earthquake in Pakistan. Moreover, CNI-Citizen Relief Fund handed over a substantial amount of aid in cash and kind to the Sri Lankan Embassy for the relief of tsunami victims in Sri Lanka and Japan. The monsoon in August, 2014 caused excessive flooding in both eastern and western regions of Nepal which devastated live hood of thousand of Nepalese and killed hundreds of people. In an effort to rehabilitate the affected people, CNI through citizen relief fund has collected and distributed relief material to the victims. With regards to the devastation and tragedy brought by the massive earthquake on April 25 and May 12, CNI and MaHa Sanchar through the Citizen Relief Fund have been working collaboratively in providing relief materials (food, water and shelter) to most affected areas and has initiated long term rehabilitation programs for those affected through the earthquake. CNI has been working tirelessly in raising funds from among its members, organizations and the general public to extend a helping hand for the relief and rehabilitation in the affected regions.

Apart from that, CNI has been focusing to strengthen and enhance the 'Citizen Relief Fund' to contribute to the society in any kinds of calamities in the days to come.

8. Research and Development (R&D)

As the Industry associations of Nepal, CNI

performance measures such as sales growth and share price in the sectors where R&D is important. Businesses are in a better position to achieve and maintain competitive advantage in the increasingly global market place with sustained R&D and other related investment at the right levels.

Furthermore, companies that carry out R&D may be in a position to claim tax relief through R&D tax credits schemes. R&D tax credits works by allowing companies to deduct qualifying expenditure on R&D activities when calculating their profit for tax purposes. Other R&D Support such as Grant for Research and Development and Knowledge Transfer Partnerships are available to help companies fulfill their R&D aspirations. Likewise, R&D results in valuable inventions, ideas and is active in providing market and business information services to its member firms. However, due to globalization and rapid technological development, the information as well as data useful and relevant today may not be appropriate for tomorrow. For instance, they do not provide technical information and services such as product and process advice, productivity improvement at the plant level, advice on sources and costs of production equipment, and so on. In this era of globalization and trade liberalization, the challenge is to upgrade industry associations, not just firms, particularly their capacity to deliver technological upgrading services to their members. In this connection, Research and Development (R&D) is only the way to excel in business through specialization, innovation and technological advancement with updated and relevant data/information. More importantly, R&D plays an important role in the innovation process which is increasingly vital to current and future profits for companies. It results in the technology that brings new products and services to the market place. Innovation results in high quality jobs, successful businesses, better goods and services and more efficient processes. International research has consistently demonstrated the positive correlation between R&D investment intensity and company designs which can be a source of potential value when it comes to gaining competitive advantage. A variety of Intellectual Property Rights exists to help a company protect these valuable assets. Because of these reasons, CNI has been conducting various comprehensive researches in association with different government as well as non-government organizations focusing on issues of industrial development including manufacturing and service sectors. Accordingly, CNI has been forwarding the conclusions derived from the research studies to concerned government agencies for policy reform as well as to the member institutions to help them in specialization, innovation and technological advancement.

9. Trade and Investment Facilitation

Trade and investment are the two sides of a coin. Generally for the countries like Nepal, where the five decades long development efforts of the government is far behind in comparison to other countries those started the planned development strategy simultaneously, the equal emphasize should be given to promote both the trade and investment. Studies found that the influence of market and supplier access on investment location decisions was four times greater than that of production costs. So the access to markets and access to suppliers are the most important factors affecting entry decisions by domestic as well as foreign investors and are the serious issues of trade and investment promotion.

Trade, investment, and production patterns in production chains are also partly determined by agglomeration and dispersion effects across countries and commodities. Trade through industrial development and the resulting high-quality production and trade services.

In order to facilitate trade and investment in Nepal, CNI in cooperation with the government of Nepal-Ministry of Industry (MoI) and USAID-NEAT activity has developed an information portal 'www.investnepal.gov.np', which will be working as a window for domestic as well as foreign investors to know about Nepal's investment climate, investment procedures, visa process, policies, facilitation has an indirect impact on Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) inflows by lowering the cost of spreading production across several countries in order to take advantage of their comparative advantages. Increased FDI, in turn, can further boost regional trade, adding to the direct effect of improvements in trade facilitation across borders. If the advantages of scattering production across economies in a region outweigh those from concentrating it together, trade facilitation makes FDI complementary to trade. This can create a virtuous cycle of trade facilitation, trade, and investment that fosters increased trade and economic growth.

To compete for larger shares of regional supply chains, countries have striven to improve their trade services. To this end, the government should actively promote infrastructure development in order to strengthen its competitive and comparative advantage and the private sectors as well as trade support institutions (TSIs) should focus on specialization, innovation and technological advancement to reduce the cost of production and in turn to maximize production, profit and investment. A FDI and export oriented development strategy with well developed trade and investment facilitation mechanism supported by the economy's integration in global production networks enhance the investment attractiveness to foreign firms. CNI as a leading trade/investment support institution and sounding voice of industries is well understood about its role to link the Nepali products in global supply chains laws, and acts including different surveys and treaties and agreements signed by Nepal with other countries. CNI as an apex body of country's industrial sector is the operator as well as manager of the portal will be updating the information when they emerged continuously. Likewise, CNI in cooperation with European Union is going to commence a special project called 'Go International' with an aim of promoting export of Nepali products, identified by NTIS, to the European markets.

Apart from that CNI has identified the following major areas for trade and investment facilitation and accordingly working on the same. These areas are: trade and investment promotion; customs clearance facilitation; commodity inspection and quarantine, food safety, quality and standardization; electronic business; transparency in laws and regulations; cooperation of small and medium enterprises, commercialization of agriculture, promotion of high value crops and cooperation with trade partners as well as concerned government organizations.

10. Certificate of Origin (CoO)

The Certificate of Origin (COO) is a document issued by the government or private sector business organization to certify the place of growth, production or manufacture of goods. It is required when exporting to specific countries, when requested by the consignee for customs clearance, or when it's stipulated in a letter of credit. The CO identifies goods and contains an express certification by a government authority, or other empowered body, that the goods in question originate in a specific country.

Many importers insist upon a CO when dealing members with speedy, economical and prompt service. Because of this reason, the visits of CNI delegation to different countries have been able to further strengthen and expand its relationship with associated chamber organizations in these countries. Active involvement of CNI members in such with foreign exporters. Although obtaining a CO is straightforward, it's important that specific procedures are as follows:

- Updated information of exporters in a specified form, which has to be completed and forwarded to the appropriate Chamber of the State/Territory, together with a list of signatories authorized to sign the certificates
- Evidence of origin i.e. copies of the invoice, a bill of lading, a letter of credit, or a statutory declaration, must be supplied prior to stamping
- Exporters must provide a copy of the documents being stamped for Chamber records.
- Before submission for authentication, the exporter must sign all export documents on the bottom left-hand side under the exporter's declaration

CNI has also been engaged in issuing Certificate of Origin to the member as well as non-member enterprises engaged in exports of various products to international markets. CNI has also been represented in the Technical Committee of the Department of Industries to look after the technical aspects of exports formalities and accordingly providing services to the exporters.

11. Membership Services

CNI Membership Committee as well as secretariat has been actively rendering services to its members. Fast and efficient means of e-mail communication has been brought into active use. This system provides visits to chamber organizations of neighboring countries have provided an opportunity to explore the potential trade opportunities in these markets and attracting potentials from those countries.

12. Information Collection, Documentation and Publication

CNI is well equipped with important information related to trade, commerce and industry both in national as well as international level. The CNI secretariat has been regularly collecting and updating the data related to major economic indicators as well as trade and investment statistics, and accordingly publishing trade directories, publications, journals and articles. In the workshop, Mr Richard Howard, ILO Country Director for Nepal highlighted the importance of forging partnerships with local actors in bringing about inclusive and long-term growth and emphasized on the role of the MNE Declaration and Global Compact as guiding challenges of Nepal. Ms Yukiko Arai, MNE Global Coordinator for ILO stressed that while businesses understood Corporate Social Responsibility in terms of following the law, the MNE declaration actually gives them guidance not only to be compliant but how they can contribute to the broader economic and social development of the country.

Orthodox Tea Stakeholders Workshop

CNI organized an Orthodox Tea Stakeholders Workshop in two phases. The first workshop was organized on the 1st of September. Dr. Hari Babu Tiwari, Agricultural and Agri-business expert made a presentation on policy level issues in the tea value chain and sought feedback from the stakeholders in the following interactive session. The 2nd workshop was organized on November 7, 2017. Dr Hari Babu Tiwari, presented a policy paper on the tea sector and sought the feedback and inputs from participants that could be incorporated into the final report and which would be used to not only advocate for policy reform but also serve as a guide for capacity building events in the seven targeted districts of the project.

Information Dissemination on 'Code of Conduct and Guidelines'

CNI has developed a Code of Conduct and Guidelines in both English and Nepali to encourage the adoption of responsible business practices at enterprise level. An Information Dissemination Program on Code of Conduct and Guidelines was held at Hotel Himalaya on January 22, 2018. The program saw participation from value chain actors of the seven districts of Ilam, Panchthar, Taplejung, Sankhuwasabha, Bhojpur, Dhankuta and Terhathum. Mr Yagyaman Shakya, Consultant for CNI sensitized the participants on the need for responsible business practices including workers rights and good corporate governance.

Workshop on Occupational Safety and Health (OSH)

CNI organized a workshop on Occupational Safety and Health (OSH) as part of its commitments under the Advocacy for Rights and Good Corporate Governance Project. The two-day workshop was organized in Ilam on 3rd and 4th February, 2018 and was conducted by Mr Dinesh Sah, OSH Expert.

The workshop raised awareness on working environment including the use of Personal Protective Equipment and best practices that can be adopted to ensure safety of employees in the workplace. The participants were also briefed and sensitized to the OSH provisions in the newly promulgated Labour Act of 2017.

TV Programs

CNI generated public awareness and brought into national discourse responsible business practices, labor principles and the socio-economic impact and constraints related to the four value chains

There was a radio and local media coverage by both ACF grantees and local media personnel about the workshops carried out in the districts. The public awareness and sensitization efforts were supplemented by engaging with IBN Media Pvt Ltd. We were able to reach out to a wide audience on procedural issues affecting the four value chains and also on the subjects related to workers rights and good business principles.

ENGAGING PRIVATE SECTOR ON SDGS

CNI in cooperation with World Wildlife Fund (WWF) completed a project "Engaging Private Sector on SDGs" focusing on Goal number 7: Ensure access to affordable, reliable, sustainable and modern energy for all. The objectives of this project are to support the private sector to identify the critical linkages between their work in a particular sector of the sustainable development goals and its target for greater commitment towards sustainable development and to enable the private sector to inform governmental organizations/civil society organizations on their contributions to different goals and its targets.

CNI organized two workshops under this project. The first workshop was organized on 26th April 2018 and the second workshop was organized on 24th May 2018 with the participation from industrialists, energy experts and consultant. The purpose of the workshop was to identify the understanding and contribution of private sector especially on UN declared SDG namely Goal number 7: Ensure access to affordable, reliable, sustainable and modern energy for all. The private sector stakeholder gave their valuable input in the workshop. The key informant interviews were conducted with prominent people of private sector, producers' association, experts, academicians, researchers, university teachers, journalists, government officers and practitioners who are related for this study. Mr. Parmod Rijal, the consultant presented his research and draft report to seek feedback and input from the stakeholders. The final report was prepared by incorporating the suggestions and feedback generated from the workshop.

NEPAL INFRASTRUCTURE 2030 : INVESTMENT AND FINANCING NEEDS

Confederation of Nepalese Industries (CNI) and Institute for Integrated Development Studies (IIDS) are jointly conducting the research on the topic "Nepal Infrastructure 2030- Investment and Financing Needs." The research aims to assess the infrastructure needs and gaps of the country specifically in the four major areas: Energy, Transportation, Urban Development and Water and Sanitation.

Four experts: Mr. Suman Sharma, Mr. Devendra Adhikari, Dr. Kirti Kusum Joshi and Er. Kamal Raj Pande have been appointed. Further, following programs have been conducted regarding the research study;

Inception Workshop

"Development of Infrastructure in Asia"..Dr. Bindu Nath Lohani, CNI Eminent Person Council and Former VP of ADB concluded the session by explaining how research document will be useful to the government and private sector.

Interaction Program

An interaction Program with private sector and partners of NIS 2017 was conducted on 6th September 2017. The objective of the program was to appraise the progress made so far in the selected four areas of study and to seek the stakeholder's feedback in the respective sector to make the study more comprehensive, meaningful and a reliable source for future infrastructure development. Mr. Vishnu Kumar Agrawal, VP of CNI presented about the research study which was continued by Dr. Nayan Krishna Joshi, Economist, and IIDS. The sector specialists also shared their insights about the research study.

Courtesy meeting with the Vice Chairman of NPC

CNI held an interactive meeting with the vice chairman of NPC regarding the study on 3rd June 2018. NPC has appointed one focal person for CNI to look after the matter of infrastructure. The Vice Chairman of NPC, Hon'ble Prof. Dr. Puspa Raj Kadel promised to provide all the necessary support to CNI regarding the research study.

The research study is in the final phase. The sectoral experts have already provided

The inception workshop was conducted on July 14, 2017 with the objective of identifying the infrastructure needs in Nepal by welcoming a diaspora of experts and stakeholders specializing and having expertise on infrastructure. The sectorial experts on energy, transportation, urban development and water and sanitation presented their insights followed by the special presentation from Dr. Juzhong Zhuang (Deputy Chief Economist, ADB) and Dr. Zhigang Li (Economist, ADB) on ADB's experience on conducting the similar study entitled CNlyef growing faster than ever!

DIVERSIFIED MEMBERS, CLOSELY-HELD GROUP, CLEAR VISION, VARIED EVENTS, STRUCTURED OPERATIONS

MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIRPERSON

It has been an interesting year for us reviving CNlyef and we are happy to have a strong foundation with young entrepreneurs with us and members from different walks of life. We were able to do various learning and networking events this year that helped the forum to learn and grow from the shared experiences with each program.

We are now looking to scale-up to next level in upcoming year wherein we intend to undertake a social project, associate with similar youth organizations globally, attend international events, organize a signature annual calendar event, carry out more diversified learning and networking events and further expand our membership base.

Our mission at CNlyef is to bring about a positive change in Nepal's economic environment by bringing together young entrepreneurs and leaders for new ideas and initiative to grow.

Talking Business, Talking Change

Past Events & Timeline

Starting September 2017, CNlyef took a new turn with aggressive member recruitment, defined vision and operations and consistent activities. Since then CNlyef have organized a total of 5 events, each unique to the previous one. The core objectives of the events were to add value to our members and the organization. From factory tours to personal interaction with industry leaders to recreational activities, CNlyef members treasured them greatly.

14 September, 2017

Bottler's Nepal Factory
Tour (Coca-Cola Company)

hospitality to all the CNlyef members and willingly discussed on a range of issues covering the entire spectrum of Nepalese economy; areas for growth and development. During the interaction session Mr. Puri answered questions pertaining to India & Nepal's current economic stance, the need for hydropower development. Terai and its future aspects.

CNIyef went inside the world of Coca-Cola to understand the secret behind making one of the biggest brand in the history. The members were greeted in Bottler Nepal's boardroom where the staffs at Bottlers Nepal shared great insights about the Coca-Cola brand and how it's operating locally. Thereafter, the members were taken for an hour long factory tour. The tour in itself was an incredible experience for all as it was everyone's first time witnessing the making of one of world's most popular product. The tour ended with the Managing Director of Bottlers Nepal, Mr. Puneet Varshney sharing his visions and plans for the brand in Nepal.

12 December, 2017

Interaction with His Excellency, Indian Ambassador to Nepal, Mr. Manjeev Singh Puri

CNIyef members attended a riveting session with the Ambassador of India to Nepal, His Excellency Manjeev Singh Puri, in his office at the Indian Embassy. He extended his warm custom development, road development and his arguments were accompanied by examples that did justice to all the queries put forth by the members. With imitable eloquence and a gracious conversational manner, the session with Mr. Puri was a delightful and enlightening experience for the audiences.

10 January, 2018

Medicity Hospital Tour & Talk Program with Dr. Upendra Mahato

CNIyef members had the opportunity to meet and interact with Dr. Upendra Mahato, a prominent businessman and the President of Russia-Nepal Chamber of Commerce and Industry. The talk program took place at joining politics and the opportunities that he sees in the new provinces. CNIyef's chairman, Mr. Rohit Gupta also explained to the audience and Mr. Chaudhary about CNIyef's vision, the direction it was heading and plans for the future. Mr. Chaudhary listened to everyone's remarks carefully and had great suggestions for CNIyef.

the newly built Nepal Medicity hospital at Bhaisepati. The generous host at Medicity hospital gave the members tour of the gigantic hospital built up in area covering 600,000 sq.ft. Although still under-construction and partly operating, CNlyef members witnessed some of the best technologies and world-class infrastructure. Upon finishing the tour, the audience were led to the conference room where the CEO of Medicity hospital shared the hospital's plans and vision to disrupt the health industry of Nepal. Dr. Mahato joined soon after to share his insights in business & life – how he started his businesses and scaled them to become the leading businesses in Nepal & the world today. His lessons on creating wealth, his experience in starting businesses in booming economies like Nepal & Russia, his passion towards social-care, his advice on work and life and his futuristic plans on Medicity and healthcare were very delightful to hear and were noted with great passion by all CNlyef members.

In the boardroom with Mr. Binod Chaudhary

CNlyef had the pleasure to meet and interact with Nepal's first billionaire - Mr. Binod Chaudhary at his office in Sanepa. In the boardroom, Mr. Chaudhary was very keen in understanding the new business trends. He spent a good time in discussing startups and where Nepal was heading in this sector. Mr. Rahul Chaudhary added that his team was active in Nepal & India with investments in startups. Mr. Chaudhary also explained his reasons for
